THE SOURCE EVALUATIONS IN THIS REPORT
THE APPRAISAL OF CONTENT IS TEN
(FOR KEY SEE REVERSE)

1. One of the consequences of the change of Statutes of the Communist Party of Yugoslavia was the abolition of basic Party units, such as cells, in all institutions and enterprises not engaged in production. Basic Party organizations were also abolished in all ministries, cultural and similar institutions. Party members employed in such institutions and enterprises are being transferred to the rolls of their respective street cells.

50X1-HUM

2. [redacted] the change was necessary mainly because Party members employed in non-productive enterprises had drawn away from the people and had lost "the feeling" for the people's needs.

3. On the other hand [redacted] Communists from state enterprises will bring more life to and increase activity in basic Party organizations.
